The 1961 Yellow Jacket

Through these portals, well-remembered,

Table of Contents

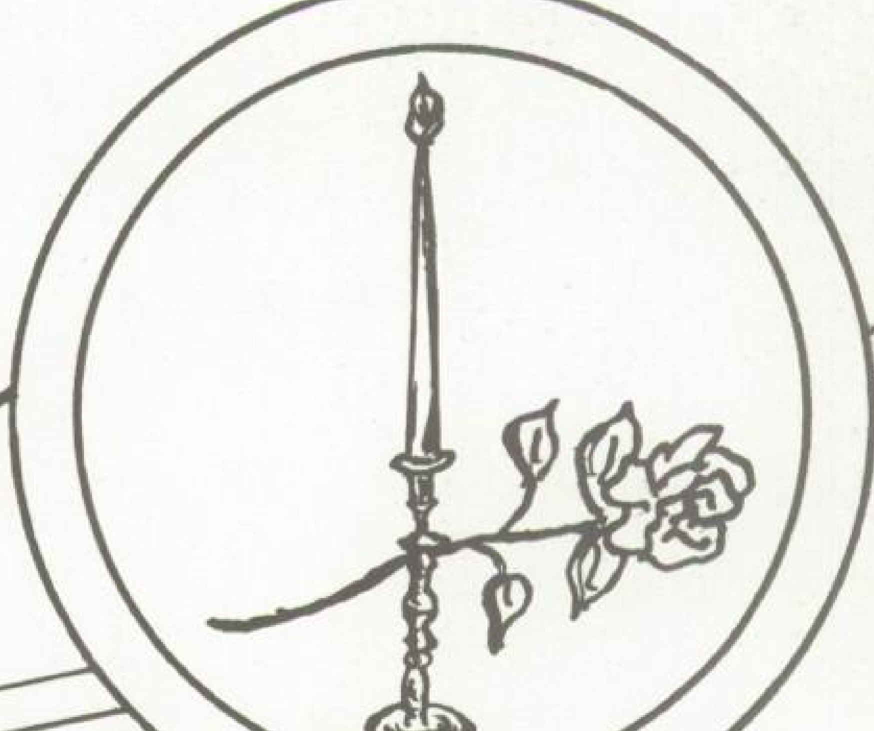

We have wandered to and fro.

Foreword

In the following pages, we have attempted to preserve one year of your high school life. Joy and sorrow, triumph and disappointment have gone to make up this, the tenth anniversary edition of your Yellow Jacket. We have tried to capture and set down that elusive, timeless substance from which memories are made. You shall be the judges of how well we have succeeded.

TAYLOR PUBLISHING COMPANY
"The World's Best Yearbooks Are Taylor-made"

The Last Deadline!!!

As we pass slowly through these doors that have seen so many come and go, all too quickly we hear the doors of the years past, quietly shutting behind us; and we go forth eagerly to open the doors to the future and whatever it may bring.

For when one door is shut---another opens.

Dear LaVerne –

I've already signed this once, but for you – I'll do it over. It seems odd to be realizing that we have only one more year of this □ place – and then we'll be together no longer. We have had so much fun in the last few years, but our Junior year will always top all the others. It would take the whole book to recall all the stunts we've pulled – And all the fun that we have had together – But I think we've both enjoyed almost every minute of it. I can't think of anything that I wish had been different, it couldn't be changed now anyway. I wouldn't trade your friendship for anything – It is going to seem so terrible year after next when we are far away from each – But we can write to each other, can't we? Just think – we have been through so much together – you've helped me get over more boy friends than I can count on both hands and feet – So LaVerne, don't ever forget me, I know I won't forget you. I'll wish you the best of everything – You're a real wonderful friend – God Bless you and Keep you –

Your Friend for life –
Love ya,
Kathi
